Navigation systems for content-based sites

Navigation helps a user
move to a new part of the site.

Navigation helps a user
move to a new part of the site.

It also tells a user
what the site offers.

Navigation helps a user
move to a new part of the site.

It also tells a user
what the site offers.

Lastly, navigation systems help users form mental models of the site's organizational structure.

Structural Navigation: Global and Local

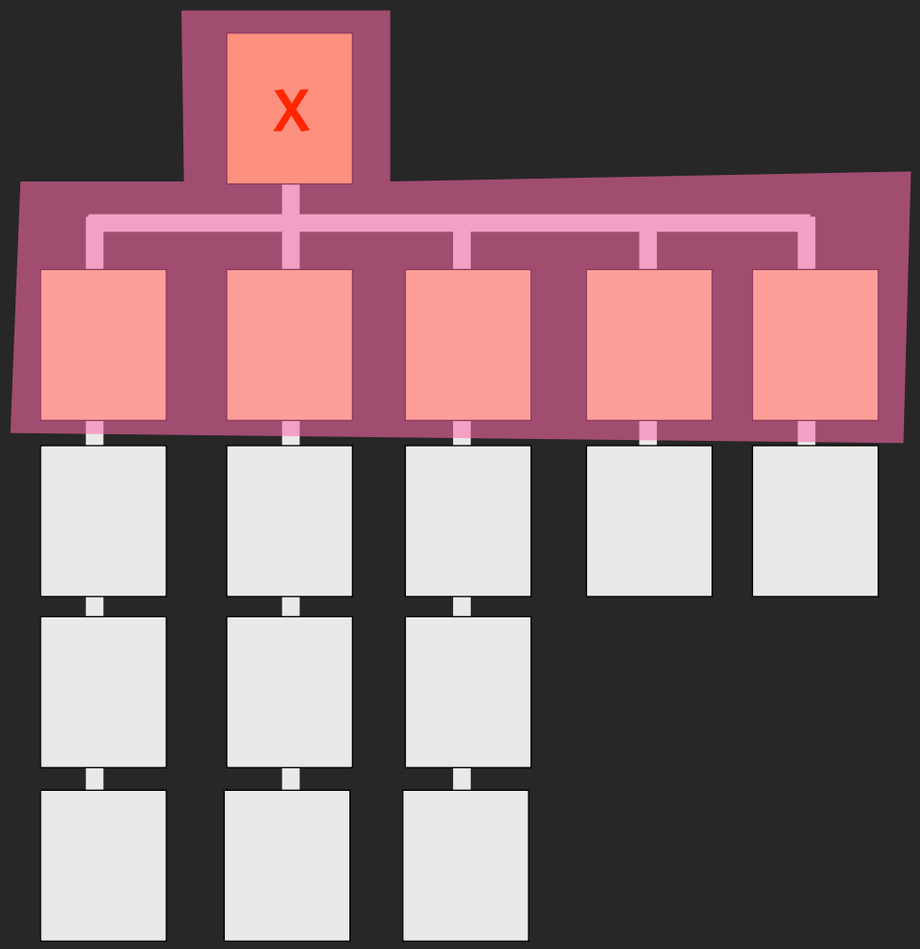
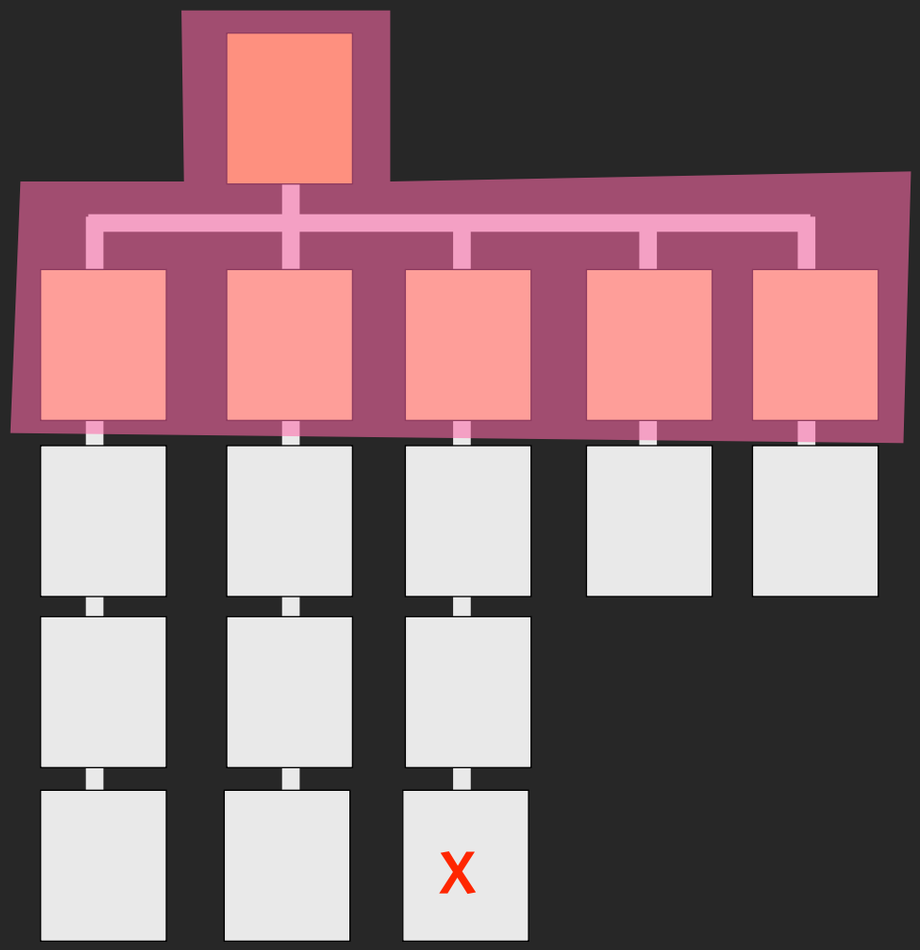
Global Navigation

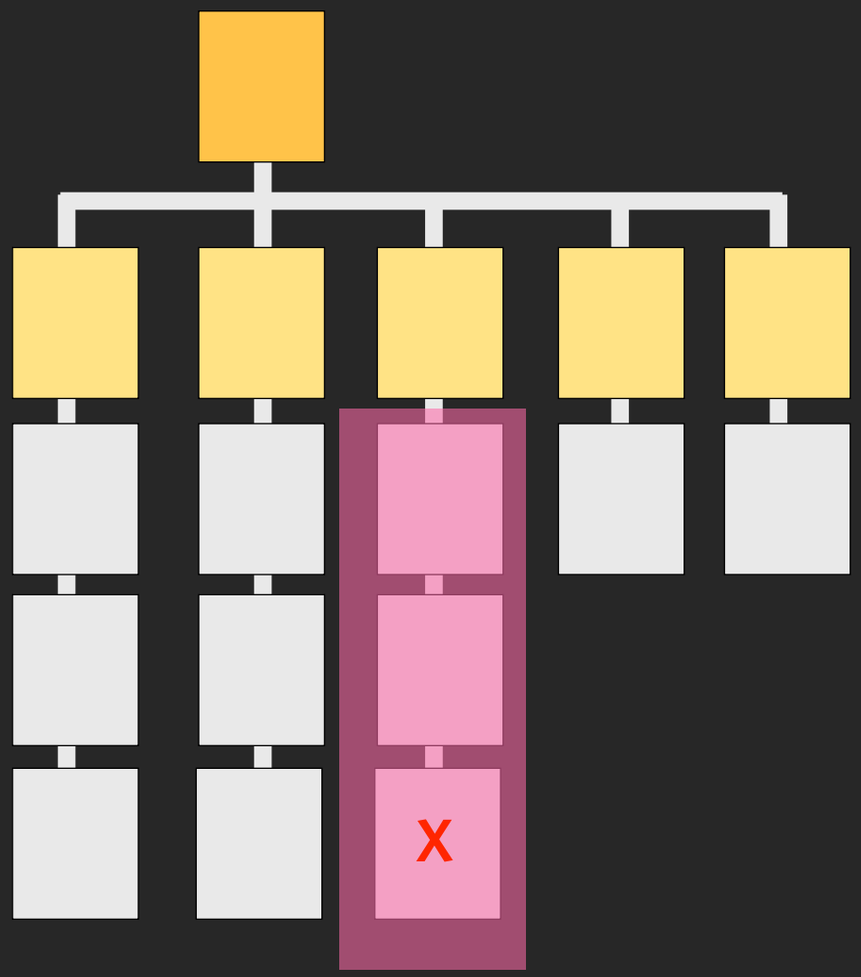


Global Navigation

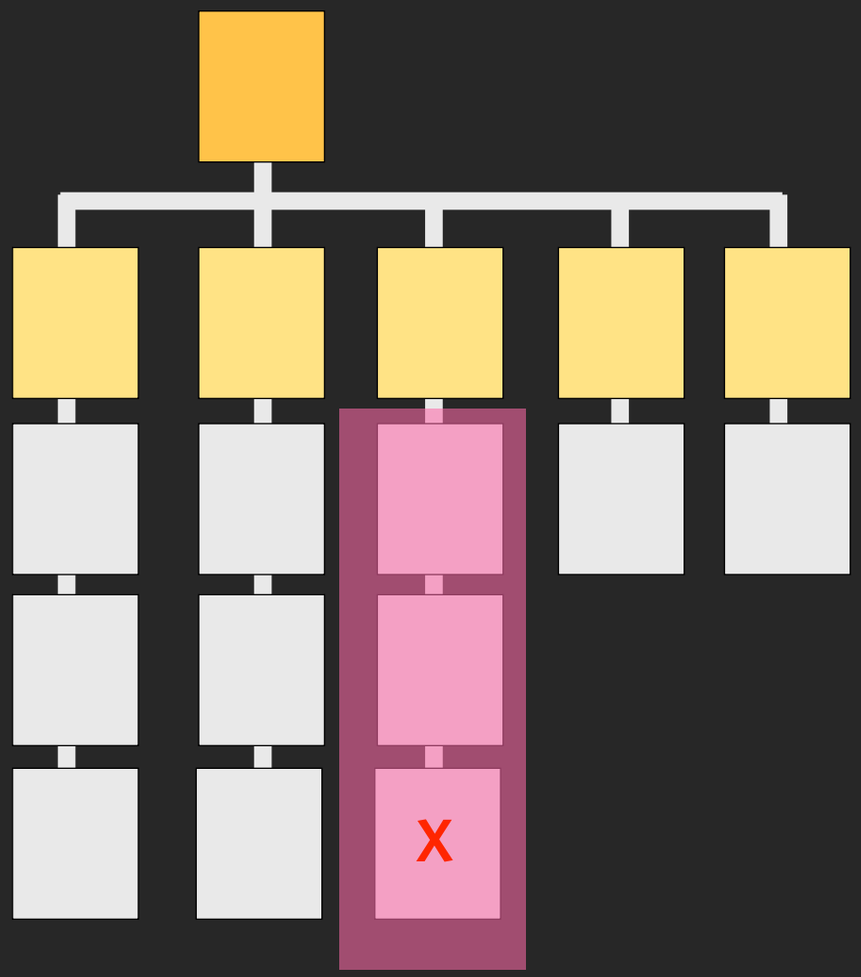


Call them sections, not tabs.

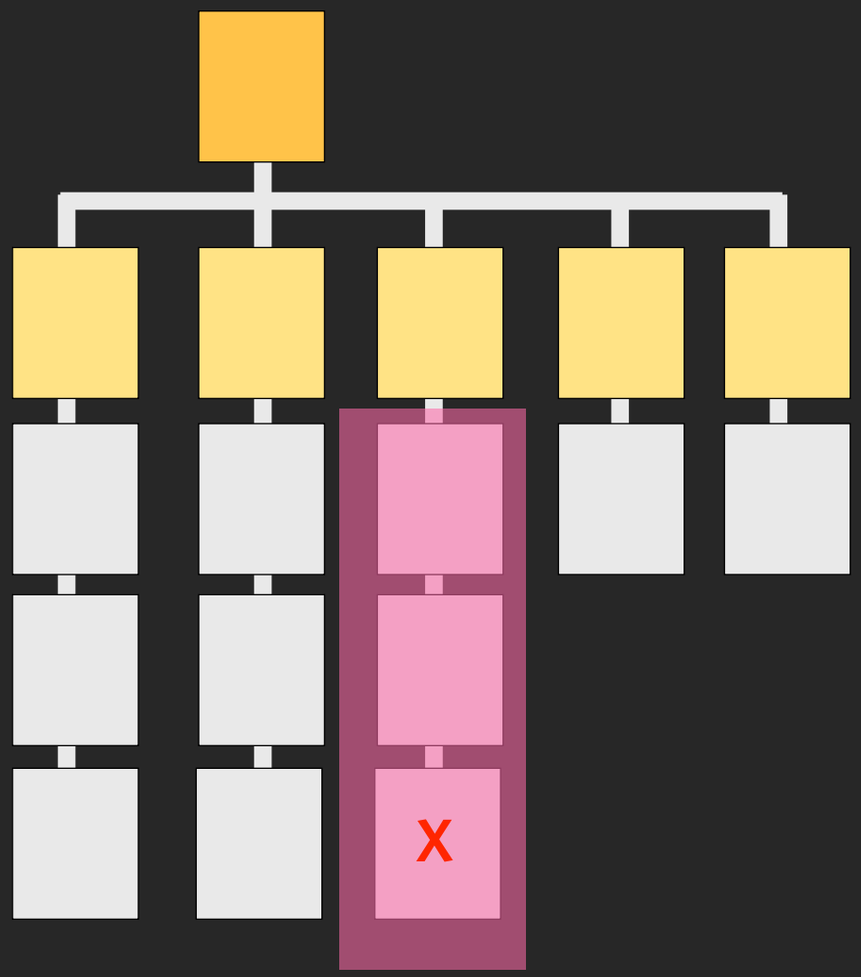
Local Navigation



Local Navigation



Local Navigation



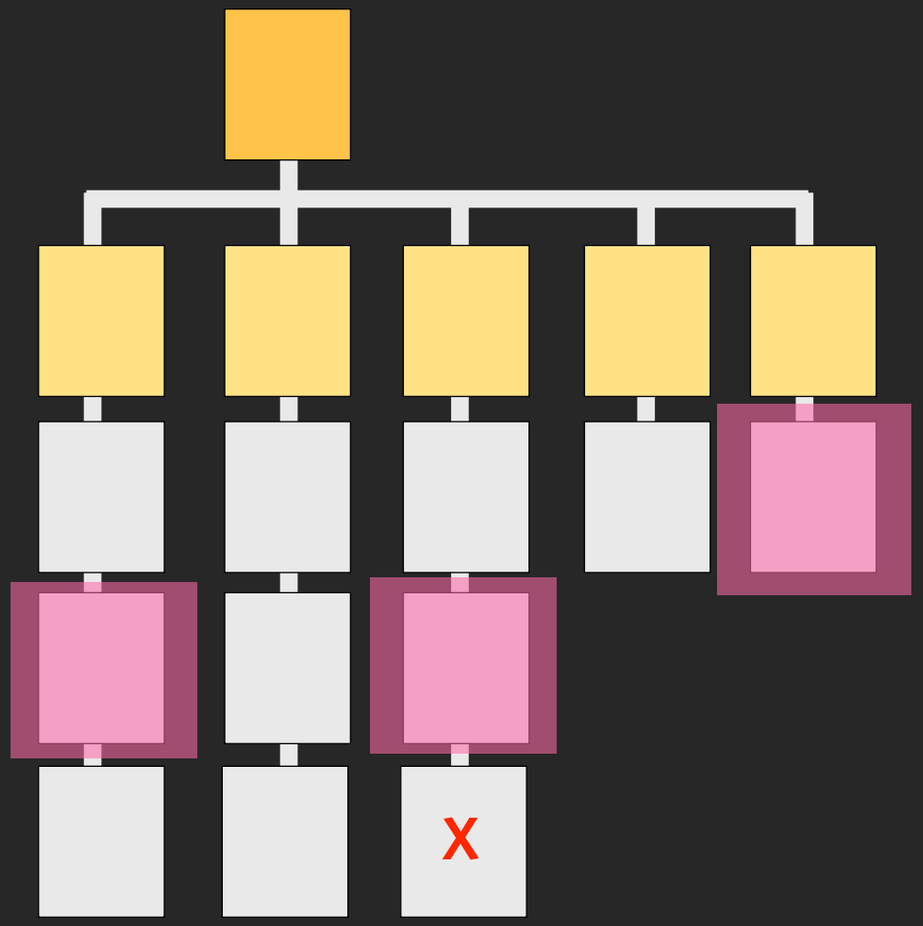
Global Navbars

Horizontal is more common than vertical.

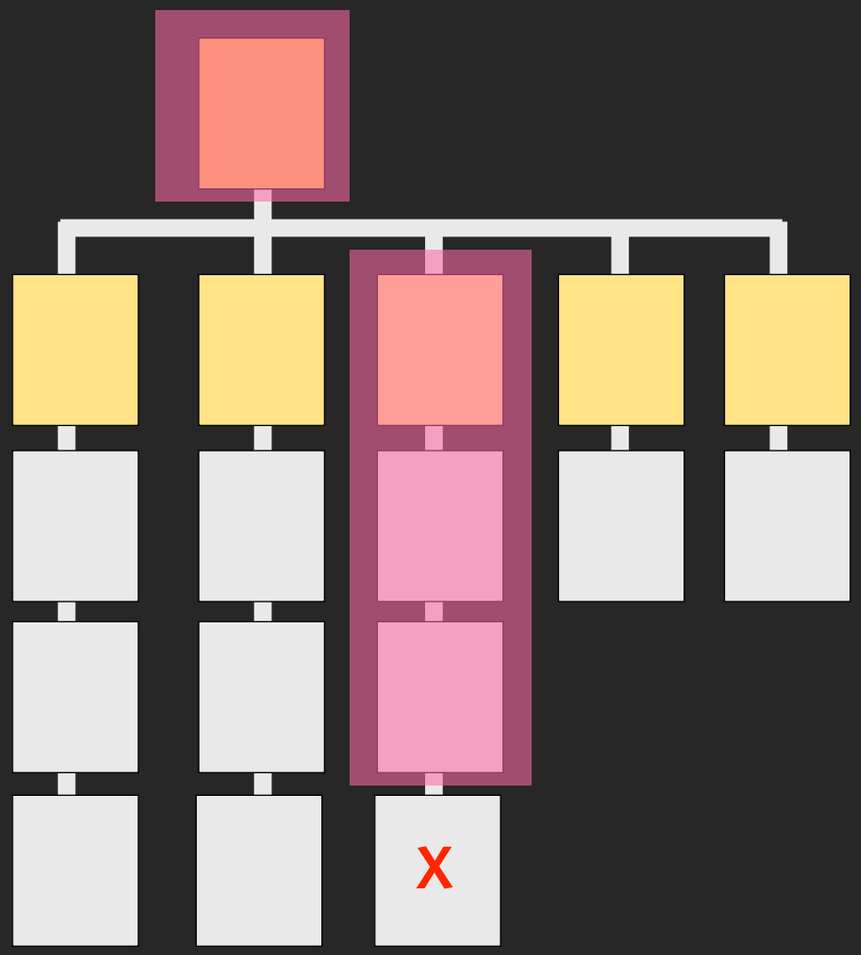
Global Navbars

Indicate the active section.

Associative Navigation



Breadcrumbs



Utility Navigation

Related: Article Tools

Applications, whether desktop, mobile, or web-based, follow different rules